

Science Meeting Here Next Week

Joint meeting of the 74th annual Iowa Academy of Science and the 30th annual Junior Academy will be held at Wartburg next Friday and Saturday.

About 650 Iowa scientists, 500 senior scientists and 150 junior academicians are expected to attend.

Seegers, Boudrye To Speak

Featured speakers on Friday will be Dr. Walter Seegers, chairman of the Department of Physiology and Pharmacology at Wayne State University in Detroit, and Dr. Mason R. Boudrye, executive secretary visiting scientist program will climax the annual affair Saturday morning.

Section meetings will be held in nine areas—botany, inorganic and physical chemistry, organic and biological chemistry, conservation, geology, mathematics, physics, psychology and zoology. Dr. Wilmut Fruehling, Wartburg Psychology Department, is chairman of the psychology section.

Turner Helps On Paper

Wartburg biology professor, Dr. Clarence L. Turner, and Guillermo Mendoza and Rebecca Reiter, Grinnell College, have prepared a paper to present to the zoology section. The paper is entitled "Morphogenesis and Comparative Morphology of the Gonopodium in Goodied Fishes."

Dr. Seegers, an expert on blood and blood coagulation, will address the general session of the Academy at 11 a.m. Friday.

He received his B.A., M.S. and Ph.D. from the State University of Iowa and an honorary D.Sc. from Wartburg.

Auto-prothrombin, which reduces clotting time of blood from 20 minutes to 28 seconds and is being used to combat certain excessive bleeding types of hemophilia, is a recent discovery of his.

Main Address Friday Night

The Academy address will be delivered by Dr. Boudrye at 8 p.m. Friday, following dinner at the First Methodist Church and the presentation of the president's report.

After teaching at Moorhead State College, at the University of Texas, at North Dakota Agricultural College and after serving as supervisor of the control and development lab at Northwest Plastics, Inc., Dr. Boudrye was elected executive secretary of Minnesota Academy of Science.

He achieved his B.E. from Superior State College and did his graduate study in zoology and education at the University of Minnesota.

Spedding Key To A-Bomb

Dr. Spedding, the last speaker, will talk on "Rare Earths" at 10 a.m. Saturday.

He was a key man in the development of the atomic bomb, organizing the chemistry and metallurgy divisions for the Plutonium Project and heading all chemistry work during 1942-43.

Spedding's B.S. and M.S. are from the University of Michigan. He earned his Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of California in Berkeley.

The Junior Academy of Science is affiliated with the Science Clubs of America and the Iowa Academy of Science. According to Dr. Leo Petri, Wartburg Biology Department and coordinator of the Junior Academy, it will meet on Friday only with its own program and schedule.

Exhibitors Try For Awards

Exhibits from the Junior Academy will be judged and displayed on the third floor of Luther Hall at 4:20 p.m. Friday. Awards for the exhibits, which are projects of high school students, will be given at 5:30 p.m. in the Chapel auditorium.

The local committee on arrangements for the Science Academy consists of chairman Dr. E. W. Hertel, Biology Department; A. W. Swensen, Chemistry Department; Dean of Faculty J. O. Chellevoid; Raymond Norheim, History Department; Dean of Women Florence Hertlein; and Richard Wiederanders, Physics Department.

Wartburg last entertained the Academy of Science in 1951, according to Dr. Chellevoid. Last year the meeting was at Simpson College, Indianola.

Dr. Spedding

of the Iowa Academy's sister organization, the Minnesota Academy of Science.

Dr. F. H. Spedding, director of the Institute for Atomic Research at Iowa State University will be the featured speaker on Saturday.

Registration is scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. and continue until 3 p.m. on Friday. Late arrivals may also register from 8-9:30 a.m. on Saturday.

Sections Planned

Section meetings will be held Friday from 8:45-10:45 a.m. and from 2-4:15 p.m. and on Saturday from 8-10 a.m. Noon luncheon will be served at the college cafeteria.

Coming Week To Feature Wartburg Women's Life

A Wartburg Women's Week, sponsored by the Women's Judiciary Council, will begin tomorrow.

Goal of the week is to have the students realize that all Wartburg women belong to the Wartburg Women's Association and to create unity between the girls' dorms and WJC, according to Margretha Radloff, president of WJC.

Displays Highlight Week

Campus displays for the week will include Wartburg women in an athletic display in the gym; campus life in the library; clothing in Vollmer, the Chapel-auditorium foyer and Fine Arts; Wartburg women in music in the Fine Arts building; and dorm life in Centennial and Wartburg Halls.

Style Show Scheduled

A style show and tea will be held next Sunday in Centennial Hall lounge. The event will be cooperatively sponsored by Pi Sigma, women's social organization, and WJC.

Pi Sigma will handle the style show being sponsored by Armstrong's Department Store of Waterloo.

Styles will be modeled by campus coeds at two showings, one at 12:45 and another at 2 p.m. A commentator will be here from Armstrong's for the show, which is entitled "Speaking of Daisies. . ."

Penny Night Produces Funds

The tea will begin at 12 noon Sunday, being sponsored by the WJC. This, as well as expenses for the whole week, is being financed with the money earned through the recent "Penny Night," according to Miss Radloff.

Recreation rooms in all the women's dorms will be open next Friday night beginning at 7:30 and will feature recreation and refreshments.

'War And Peace' Set For Tonight

"War and Peace," a top novel and movie about Napoleon's march into Russia, will be shown tonight at 7 in the Chapel-auditorium. The movie is based on the novel by Leo Tolstoy.

The junior class will be sponsoring the movie with proceeds going toward the junior-senior prom and banquet expenses. Cost is 50 cents.

Reflecting The Past—

A NOT UNFAMILIAR scene were ones like this one a week ago when the Cedar River rolled out of its winter hibernation. However, this year's flood did little damage and was far below last year's level.

6 Colleges Attend Journalism Meet

About twenty-five student journalists from six Iowa Colleges are here attending the Iowa Collegiate Press Association conference which will conclude this afternoon.

Schools represented include State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls; Fort Dodge Community College, Fort Dodge; Luther College, Decorah; Grand View Junior College, Des Moines; State University of Iowa, Iowa City; and Wartburg. Simpson College journalists were also to have attended but did not come yesterday.

The meeting opened with welcoming speeches given by Al Snook, student body president, and John Ness, Speech Department. The opening speaker was Bill Severin of the Waterloo Courier who spoke on the topic, "Opportunities For College Journalists," pointing out the openings on papers and in related fields for college graduates.

This morning three workshops were scheduled for photography, conducted by Stewart Haas of the Waterloo Courier; sportswriting, led by Bob Herdlen, Courier Sports editor; and make-up and typography, headed by Mervin Nelson, Des Moines Register.

Also this morning individual conferences were to have been held with Haas and Nelson with the various paper staffs concerning any questions or problems they had. At 11 a.m. Ed Heins, editor of the Waverly Newspapers, was scheduled to speak on "Covering the Local Scene."

"Faculty and Student Views of the Campus Newspaper" will be the topic of the final panel of the conference this afternoon with student editors from the various schools making up the panel.

By Lois Piotter

"Hobo Haven" will be the theme for the all-school carnival to be held in Knights Gym next Saturday from 7:30-11 p.m.

Juniors Mike Hamm and Doug Aden are serving as co-chairmen of the carnival, which has as its chief purpose the raising of money for the student body project.

They have set up six additional committees to help plan the carnival.

Committee Heads Picked

Junior Jon Gruber is heading concessions while Arlene Abbs is serving as chairman of the decorations committee. The king and queen contest is under the direction of sophomores Sharyn Purcell and Orv McElfresh, and Dave Hutson is handling the tickets.

Sophomore Elaine Frantz is in charge of the cake walk, while KWAR and Gamma House are responsible for publicity.

Tickets Cost Nickel

There will be no admission charged, but tickets which are redeemable at concessions stands and for such events as the cake walk will be on sale for a nickel apiece.

Everyone is encouraged to follow the general theme by costumes, and prizes will be awarded for the best boy's, best girl's and best couple's costumes, according to Aden and Hamm. A highlight of the carnival will be a raffle with an FM radio as the prize.

Royalty Will Be Chosen

The king and queen contest will also be held again this year. Each dormitory, floor and college house can nominate a candidate. The five units with the highest average contribution for the student body project will have their candidates named at the carnival.

The king and queen are then elected through the process of charging a penny for every vote. The girls nominate the king candidates and the boys the queen candidates in the dorm nominations.

Usual Auction Dropped

Organizations and classes will sponsor various exhibits and concession stands at the carnival. There will be no auction as in the past. However, a slave auction is being considered, according to Hamm.

All proceeds will go for the student body project, buying FM radios for student rental so that KWAR can be carried to all students.

Giving Outlook — Will KWAR Revive

The fine art of giving — the art that seems to be dying out at Wartburg. Last week was drive week for the student body project, purchase of KWAR-FM radios. What the results of the drive and next week's carnival will be remains to be seen.

If the trend of the past few years continues, the outlook is gloomy, not only for this year's project but also for the idea of the student body project and carnivals as a whole.

An idealistic figure of $2,000 has been set as the campaign goal, an average of $2 per student, counting carnival receipts and faculty donations. Past years show that this figure is almost beyond reach — unless each student contributes an average of $1.50 and the carnival nets $500.

Last year only a little over a thousand dollars was received, including just $600 from individual solicitations. In 1960, $1,300 was given with $800 coming from solicitations. The previous year the total project amounted to $1,800. The best response ever came in 1957 when an approximate total of $2,115 was received, if old Trumpet files are reliable.

The 1955 project produced $1,657.17 with $1,295.50 of that coming from individual contributions, over twice the amount received last year from three-fourths as many students.

Looking way back to 1951, we see that $450 was donated for Indian Bibles by 587 students, but if Trumpet stories are clear, it seems that there was a project each semester, one of them along the line of the present Campus Chest.

One probable factor in the recent "tight-fist" idea is the type of projects in two of the last three years. Most of the 1959 project went into "landscaping" the campus between Luther Hall and Knights Gym, which amounted mostly to planting of young trees that have had trouble flourishing.

Last year's project of sidewalks did not help the matter any, either, and the idea of past projects seems to linger from year to year.

Some projects in the last few years that have proven themselves include the Union's color TV set and Little Theater equipment, gym scoreboards, furniture in Vollmer Hall Lounge, Union hi-fi system and PA system in Schield Stadium and a four-year scholarship for a foreign student.

Now, we come to this year's project, which certainly ranks with the better ones.

KWAR-FM has long been plagued with the problem of inferior equipment and lack of student listeners. With the project designed to purchase a number of radios that students can rent, the student finally gets a chance to hear his own campus radio station without difficulty.

The history of KWAR doesn't go back far, just to April 1949. Started as KNYT through the efforts of particularly two people — Francis Neumann, a student who drowned in Lake Michigan that same summer, and Raymond Wilderman, Speech Department station adviser — the station struggled through some early difficult years.

Aided by several student body projects around 1950, the station began to stand on its feet and became KWAR after Federal Communications Commission approval in the first part of March 1951, nearly two years after Wartburg radio began.

The station started small, broadcasting only three hours a day three days a week, but it broadcasted original student scripts and several away sports events.

Now the station broadcasts 57 hours a week on all seven days, including 15 hours on Saturdays. KWAR has come a long way, both in equipment and techniques. This year has been the most important year of growth since KNYT became KWAR, much of the credit due to a better staff and the direction of Dr. Edwin Sandberg.

But unless KWAR has listeners on campus, it is about stymied. A $1,300 transmitter is part of the new equipment purchased this year on a very limited budget, but this equipment isn't worth much if KWAR isn't widely heard. That's where the student body project comes in. When you contribute, it isn't only KWAR you are contributing to but yourself, just as any good student body project should be mostly for the benefit of the student.

KWAR, on its part, has to get better because it will have the world's best critics, its listeners, to please. Expanded programming with more original shows, better campus news coverage and broadcasting of out-of-town events should be among the things expected.

In the words of the campaign of over ten years ago, "you are supporting a greater Wartburg when you support the drive."

AT LAST WEEKEND'S MEETING

ALC Conference Highlights Authority

By John Stumme

What is the role of authority in the Christian life?

This question was asked, discussed and answered in a multitude of different ways by the four speakers and the 172 delegates who attended the American Lutheran Church student conference here last weekend.

Holmer Speaks "Of" Faith

The featured speaker, Dr. Paul Holmer, answered that the authority in the Christian life does not lie with the person who has studied theology the longest but with the person who has learned to be thankful, hopeful, loving and believing.

The former, Holmer labeled language "about" faith and the latter, language "of" faith. Language "about" faith is scientific, but language "of" faith is born in the heart. Throughout his three speeches he drew a sharp distinction between the functions and authorities of each.

Jenson Says Spread Gospel

Dr. Robert Jenson told students in the religious area that the primary authority of the church is the proclamation of the Gospel and that this authority is based on the "last word," Jesus Christ.

Dr. Elwin Farwell, education area speaker, replied that authority in colleges rests in the effectiveness of the institution in accomplishing what it purports to do.

He then asked the searching question whether Christian colleges were accomplishing what they were purporting to do.

Evidence Is Authority

The science area speaker, Dr. A. van der Ziel, said that the authority of science is different from the authority of faith. The authority of faith is Jesus; the authority of science is evidence. Therefore, he said, the two should be kept separated.

Students in the religious area came up with other answers to the role of authority.

"... the authority of the church as found in the Gospel is manifested by the individual Christian to the society in which he lives."

Workshops concerned with education and authority mainly discussed differences and similarities between the secular and church college. Conclusions stated that both "attempt to develop the whole man."

The church college justifies its existence because it "alone can purposely strive to provide an atmosphere in which the individual can learn to discern good and evil and to love the good."

Common Conflict Considered

When students were given a free range in "Science, Authority and the Student" workshops, they spent most of their time on the apparent conflict of science and religion, especially in the field of ethics.

One with authority during the conference was Wartburg senior Art Baker, who coordinated and chaired the whole affair. Baker Says Meet Success

"From the opinion of the students here, the conference was quite successful. They felt there was much to take back to their own campuses. The speakers were well received and discussion groups brought out many answered and unanswered questions," said Baker.

The speakers came to Wartburg from all over the nation. Dr. Holmer is a philosopher-theologian at Yale Divinity School, and Dr. Jenson teaches philosophy and religion at Luther College.

Dr. Farwell is the first dean of the newest Lutheran college, California Lutheran, while Dr. van der Ziel is professor of electrical engineering at the University of Minnesota.

Constitution Adopted

An important step was taken in the organization of the conference when the final form of a constitution was adopted at a plenary session Saturday night. A year ago at the conference's first annual meeting at Concordia College only a temporary constitution was approved.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Petition Produces Results

Dear Editor:

I would like to express appreciation to all those students who read, considered, and signed the recent petition concerning the extension of women's hours for discussion groups.

Since the petition was presented to the Student Welfare Committee, we have been made aware of some information which should be of interest to those who signed the papers.

1. Women may have permission to attend groups of the kind mentioned in the petition without using their regular late permissions.

2. Such permission may be obtained in the following ways:

a. The student wishing to attend a discussion group may go to Mrs. Hertlein (dean of women) for an individual extension of hours.

b. A sheet of paper bearing the names of all women students planning to attend the discussion may be given to Mrs. Hertlein before the meeting.

c. The faculty member acting as sponsor for the discussion group may arrange with Mrs. Hertlein to have the women who attend the meeting sign a slip of paper in his home, initial it, and return it after the meeting to the respective housemother via one of the women present at the discussion.

Dr. William Hulme, Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, delivered the sermon at the communion service Sunday morning.

This service concluded the weekend conference and the 172 students left for 14 different campuses with a new and deeper meaning of "authority."

Oppiemen Opening At Penn

By Paul Mardorf
Batter up!!
Baseball season is here again.

The 1962 baseball edition of the Wartburg Knights takes the field this afternoon for a double-header against William Penn at Oskaloosa.

Penn Gets First Test

This is Penn's first taste of Iowa Conference competition since being admitted to the conference.

The Knights, coached by Earnest Oppermann, begin action to try to retain the Iowa Conference crown captured last year. As a result, all of the conference teams will be aiming for the Knights in an attempt to dethrone them.

This year's Oppiemen, although lacking some of the hitting power and speed of a year ago, will be strong on the mound. Three of the six returning lettermen are left-handed hurlers. They are senior Jim Borcharding and sophomores Dave Langrock and Bob Meyer.

Ott, Urbain Gone

Missing from last year's championship squad will be such standouts as Marv Ott and Kermit Urbain.

Infielders Dar Oehlerich and Don Sowers and outfielder Ray Bye are the other letterwinners back.

Earlier this week Oppermann listed his probable starting lineup for action in the first game this afternoon.

Two Starters Considered

"Starting the season on the mound will be either Borcharding or Langrock," Oppermann stated.

Batting order will be Sowers at third base, Langrock on the mound or at first base, Eldon Ott in right field, Bye in center field, Oehlerich at shortstop, Bill Fulcher at second base, Borcharding on the mound or at first base, Bob Matthias in left field and Frank Merrill catching.

Frosh Show Promise

Oppermann went on to say that several freshmen have looked good in practice and show good potential. He listed pitchers Jerome Hemenway, Doyle Burn and Curt Marshek, pitcher-outfielder Arlyn Ristau, infielder Brian Kruger and catcher Bob Nielsen.

Next week the Knights open action at home against the Wildcats of Parsons. Last year Parsons finished in a third-place tie in the conference race with a 7-5 record.

TWO BASEBALL MAINSTAYS last season were Jim Borcharding (65) and Don Sowers, who will perform this year. This action came last year against SCI in a rundown between second and third.

Track Moves Out

Some people feel that determination wins many athletic contests.

Today the thinclads will need plenty of determination to defeat the University of Dubuque, defending conference champs. The Knights will go against the Spartans at 1 p.m. in front of Schield Stadium.

Quantity Looks For Quality

Chances of winning are improved this season due to the large number of participants. The squad numbers about thirty which is about double last year's number.

The rapid growth of the squad is due to the many underclassmen out this year. This lack of experience will be a handicap, said Olson, adding that this squad has quantity and the need is to develop quality.

Zander, Niemann Look Best

The most notable accomplishments of the brief indoor season were by Dixon Zander in the pole vault and freshman Joel Niemann in the high jump. Zander boosted his own school vault record up three inches to 13' 3". Nieman went as high as 6' 2", which would tie Wartburg's outdoor high jump record.

Next Tuesday the Knights' opponent will be Platteville

State, Platteville, Wis., in another dual home meet.

PICKING UP SPLINTERS

One Hoping To Repeat; Three Looking Upward

By Paul Baumgarten

Spring, if it ever comes in this state, should bring an interesting sports season to Knightland. One team will be trying to maintain championship position and three others will try to climb out of the doldrums.

Baumgarten

Starting with the championship unit, Coach Earnest Oppermann's baseball boys will have rougher sledding than last year. There are only six lettermen returning to the diamond squad.

Oppermann must replace two outfield positions and much of his hitting. Don Sowers is the only regular returning with a high batting average.

He should be quite strong in the pitching department although it will be mainly on the southpaw side. He has three good returning lefties in Bob Meyer, Jim Borcharding, and Dave Langrock. The only righties will be untried freshmen and sophomores.

On the cinder scene, the Knights will feature a larger than usual track squad this year but, like baseball, could be plagued with inexperience. The biggest area needing replacement is in the dashes; i.e., replacing Eddie Skay.

The strongest area could be the middle distance and certain of the field events. There are returnees in the distances but they must still prove themselves top-quality college material.

The gossip has it that the tennis squad may undergo a shake-up. It seems that there are several promising newcomers who could give some of the returnees a battle. The only letterman from last year is Larry Mugridge, although there is another from year before last, Dave Braunschweig.

Things look equally as uncertain for Coach Norm Johansen's golf squad. There are only two lettermen back from last year's seventh-place finishers. They are Bob Mueller and Bruce Hein.

On the conference level the favorites seem to be fairly well determined in tennis and track. They are Dubuque and Luther, and Dubuque and Parsons, respectively.

Buena Vista, Luther and Upper Iowa should give the Knights the most trouble in their drive to repeat as baseball champions. The golf picture remains pretty well undetermined to this point.

The thing remaining is the question of the week — exactly how far will a '58 Chevrolet go on a dime's worth of gas?

Structural Work Finished For Women's Dormitory

The structural work has been completed on the new women's dormitory, according to Business Manager Herbert Engelbrecht. It will be dedicated and permanently occupied early next fall.

Engelbrecht pointed out that the construction has not yet been legally accepted. He stated that the architects and electrical engineers have yet to finally approve the blueprints.

Landscaping Left

The only things that will remain after this will be the outside work such as sidewalks and landscaping.

The completed building is to cost about $425,000. Money for the dorm is coming in fairly well, according to Public Relations Director Merritt Bomhoff. Financing received a setback earlier because the American Lutheran Church had not received as much money as originally expected for such projects and could not contribute all of its proposed allotment.

College Gets Only $8,000

The $54,000 originally designated for Wartburg College therefore was reduced to $8,000. This put the college into an unexpected bind.

A further problem was created by the fact that construction was completed ahead of schedule. This interrupted the planned schedule of payments and imposed a further burden on the college.

Payment Plans Arranged

Castle Club has pledged and given $54,000. The ALC will amortize $300,000 and the remaining portion will be raised by development.

Naming of the building will be done by the executive committee of the Board of Regents when it meets May 31. Thirty-four names were received in the Trumpet contest which ended Apr. 1. The winner will receive $10.

Koob To Present Acting Recital

Senior Kathryn Koob will present an acting recital Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

Scenes will be taken from well-known contemporary plays by Eugene O'Neill, John Van Druten, and Maxwell Anderson.

Miss Koob has been active in college theater for four years and is an English-Speech-Journalism major at Wartburg.

Play Winners Announced

Winners in the Wartburg sponsored Iowa Collegiate Playwrighting contest were announced last Wednesday by John Gill, drama director.

Plays were submitted from Iowa colleges and judged by Dr. Edwin T. Sandberg, English Department; Dr. James Fritschel, Music Department; and John Gill, drama director.

The three winners are all from State University of Iowa. First prize was awarded to James L. Shields for his one-act play entitled "I Am With You."

Second prize went to Edward M. Burce for "The Telephone," and third prize to Richard Palmer for "A Pound of Nails."

The two plays written by first and second-place winners will be produced by Wartburg theater groups May 17, 18 and 19. A third play still to be selected will also be produced at that time.

Abramson, Schroeder Plan Sonata Recital

A sonata recital will be presented by two members of the Music Department Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

Miss Jean Abramson, pianist, and William Schroeder, violinist, will be the featured performers.

Two Senior Recitals Set

Two student recitals are on next week's music schedule.

A senior recital will take place tomorrow afternoon at 4 in the Chapel-auditorium. Marlys Werning, pianist, and Marshall Christiansen, tenor soloist, will present a dual program.

Miss Werning will play "Sonata in G Major" by Haydn; "Sarabande" by Grieg; and Chopin's "Mazurka in B Minor, Op. 33, No. 4." She will conclude with two numbers by Debussy, "Danseuses de Delphes" and "Golliwogg's Cake Walk."

Included in Christiansen's performance will be "Weep No More" from "Hercules" by Handel; "Contentezza" by Mozart; "Wie bist du meine Konigin" by Brahms; and Massenet's "Open Thy Blue Eyes." He will also sing "The Ash Grove," "The Slighted Swain," "Have You Seen But a White Lily Grow," and "Kitty, My Love."

Christiansen will be accompanied by senior Jean Semmler.

On Thursday evening senior recitals will be given in the Fine Arts Center by organist Barbara Dietz and Fred Stark, trombone soloist.

The program will feature several Bach numbers by Miss Dietz, "In Thee is Gladness," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," and "St. Annen Fugue."

Other numbers will be "Toccatina" by Micheelsen; "Er halt uns" by Pepping; and "Sonata, Movement" by Hindemith.

Stark's selections will include "Arietta" by Antonio Lotti; "Sonata in F Major" by Benedetto Marcello; Mozart's "Concerto K. 191"; and "Galliard" by Wilfred Mellers.

Classes Halted
